Trademark Classes

Class 42 – Scientific and Technological Research

Scientific and technological research and development in the field of cognitive neuroscience, quantum physics, EEG signal analysis, and parallel timeline convergence; providing AI-based software, simulations, and models for studying reality synchronization.

Class 41 – Educational Services (Optional)

Educational services, namely, developing and delivering instruction, courses, workshops, and training programs in the field of QuantumSync Theory, including cognitive neuroscience, quantum convergence, and EEG interpretation.

Public Declaration

QuantumSync Theory™ is a trademarked scientific framework originally conceived by Tamaralynn Coulombe in 2009, with the field officially founded and launched in late 2024 into 2025. It represents an original field of study combining quantum mechanics, cognitive neuroscience, EEG signal interpretation, and timeline convergence theory. QuantumSync Theory™ is a trademarked scientific framework created by Tamaralynn Coulombe in 2009. . The trademark has been filed with CIPO and is supported by multiple patent filings in the United States, covering the simulation models, neural detection devices, and quantum-cognitive synchronization systems related to this framework.

This public claim establishes the formal origin, legal ownership, and scope of QuantumSync Theory™ as a protected and recognized scientific and technological field, operated under TLC Quantum Research and its incorporated divisions.
